

"MAIL SUMMONS," HER ORDER TO COP

But Mrs. Belknap's Curt Direction Falls and Paper Is Duly Served.

Mrs. William Belknap of Ocawana, wife of a former Assemblyman from Westchester County, was held up yesterday by Policeman Patrick Whalen in Tonkers. He declared she was whizzing along in her auto at thirty-five miles an hour.
"Sorry," said Whalen, "but I'll have to hand your driver a summons."

"I'm in an awful hurry," quickly replied Mrs. Belknap, "please mail it to me."

"I'll do no such thing," the amazed policeman answered. "If you haven't time to wait until I make out the summons perhaps you have time to come around to the station and explain to the Lieutenant."

"I'm in an awful hurry though," repeated Mrs. Belknap, as she sat back and waited until the summons was filled out.

With her was Lieut. Bryant Beatty, also of Ocawana.

SHOOTS AT WOMAN AND FIGHTS POLICE

Jersey City Watchman Captured After Battle, Barricaded in Lighter Cabin.

Policeman Dundon, of Jersey City, saw Mrs. Noa Hill leaning out of an upper window at No. 39 Morris Street at 2 A. M. to-day crying for help. As he approached a man across the street fired a shot at Mrs. Hill from an old cavalry pistol, then turned it on the policeman.

There was a running pistol duel to the Hudson Street dock, where the fugitive barricaded himself in the cabin of a steam lighter. Dundon called for the serges, and after a battle of ten minutes, during which twenty-five or thirty shots were fired, the man surrendered.

He said he was John Sullivan, forty-seven, No. 21 Essex Street, Jersey City, watchman on the dock.

The police couldn't learn why he shot at the woman.

Clothing Hunt in Paterson.

A note written by thieves who had stolen fifty suits and overcoats was found to-day in the clothing store of Benjamin Greenberg at No. 134 Market Street, Paterson. It read: "We all thank you for your clothing. We are done with this town now. Da-da-NEWARK BOYS."

HOLD-UP TRIO PASS OUT DRINKS

Three Masked Men Show Sympathy for Victims in Jersey City Raid.

Three masked men with drawn pistols went into the saloon of Patrick Mc-Dermott at No. 223 Warren Street, Jersey City, at 1:30 A. M. to-day and ordered everybody present to put up their hands.

While one man kept the bartender covered another took about $100 from the cash register. The third produced a bottle of "hooch" and called on the half dozen customers in the place to step up and have a drink. When they had been served the three bandits poured out drinks for themselves, said "Here's how!" and escaped.

The same kind of a robbery took place a week ago in a Henderson Street saloon, where the bandits also passed out the drinks. The description of the men fits the three implicated to-day.
